APPENDIX 6

PROJECT CODES

Part A: INTRODUCTION

1. GENERAL. Project codes identify requisitions, shipments, and related documentation to special projects, operations, exercises, and maneuvers. This “one-to-one correlation” enables the Navy to distinguish and track these special programs to performance and cost data. Each military service (including the Coast Guard, Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Services Administration for civil agencies, and the MILSTRIP System Administrator for the Department of Defense) assigns specific project codes. They’re perpetuated in all related documentation and also appear as part of the shipping container markings. Project codes are mandatory entries in cc 57-59 of all Navy requisitions.

2. CATEGORIZATION. There are four categories of project codes:

a. Category A - Intra-service action only. These codes are published, and will be recognized, only within the service assigning them. For the Navy, Category A is further broken down into five groups as follows:

(1) Group I - General Use Project Codes. These codes are alpha/alpha/numeric and provide an explanation of why the material is being requisitioned or moved.

(2) Group II - Special Deep Freeze Project Codes. These codes are “D”/alpha/numeric and identify material categories and activities associated with the Deep Freeze project.

(3) Group III - Other Special Project Codes. These codes vary in appearance and are assigned to special conditions or projects, e.g., intra-service repair programs.

(4) Group IV - Navy War Reserve Material Project Codes. These codes segregate War Reserve Material (material which is not needed during times of peace but essential during war) either by function or rate of consumption. They will always contain alpha “P” in the first position and are assigned by NAVSUP 04M with approval from the CNO.

(5) Group V - Security Assistance Office Project Codes. These codes are used in International Logistics (ILS) Transactions (service code P or K in cc 30) and are not published herein. A block of codes (series 1AA through 1ZZ) have been reserved for their use. Questions concerning these project codes should be addressed NAVICP, International Programs Directorate, Attn: Code 761, Philadelphia, PA 19111, DSN 442-4493 or commercial (215) 697-4493.

b. Category B - Intra and inter-service action. Used when recognition and exceptional processing actions have been prearranged between specified services/agencies. The control requirements are included in the message announcing the establishment of the code.

c. Category C - Inter-service/agency action. The DOD MILSTRIP System Administrator assigns these project codes when two or more services/agencies will be using them to requisition material. All services/agencies are required to recognize Category C codes. Includes all codes in the 3/alpha/alpha series plus JZC, JZM and JZO.

Appendix 6

Project Codes

d. Category D - Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD)/Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS). Includes all codes in the 9 _ _ series. These project codes are assigned to projects or programs clearly of direct interest to the Secretary of Defense or to the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Authorization for use of a JCS project code will be for a specified period of time, and the force/activity designator(s) to be used in conjunction with this code normally will be designated in the authorization. Requests for assignment of JCS project codes will be submitted to the Joint Material Priorities and Allocations Board (an Agency of the Chairman Joint Chiefs of Staff), via the appropriate office as follows:

- (1) Service Headquarters
- (2) United or Specified Command Headquarters
- (3) The Joint Staff
- (4) OSD

4. PRIORITY. Requisitions with OSD/JCS project codes are the most urgent and will be ranked above all other requisitions with the same priority designators. When system-wide inventory levels do not permit all requisitions with a given priority designator to be satisfied, positive supply action will be taken on requisitions having OSD/JCS project codes first. Project codes (other than OSD/JCS) are not related to priority in any respect, and do not alter or override the priority assigned a requisition or shipment. Requisitions are processed strictly in accordance with the assigned priority designator as prescribed in the Uniform Material Movement and Issue System (UMMIPS).

5. ASSIGNMENT OF PROJECT CODES. Requests for assignments of Category A, Group III project codes (excluding 800 series) will be addressed to the Naval Inventory Control Point Mechanicsburg code 101.1 (email to "Ross_Burton@icpmech.navy.mil"). All requests should contain the following information:

- a. Unclassified name or identifier of the project for easy identification.
- b. The activity monitoring or coordinating the project with full address and phone contact.
- c. Announcement date (when use of the code will begin) and termination date (when use of the code will be discontinued). If a specific date is not known, it is recommended that a date from one to five years in the future be given. Termination dates will be extended upon request.
- d. Indication if publication in this Appendix is desired.
- e. Remarks (any necessary clarification not elsewhere provided).
- f. Requests for project codes in the 800 series should be addressed to Naval Ordnance Center Inventory Management System Division (NOCIMSD), Attn Code 60, 5450 Carlisle Pike, Mechanicsburg PA 17055.

Activities which are assigned special project codes are responsible for providing instructions/information relative to the use of the code to requisitioners, supply activities and others upon request.

Part B: INTRA-SERVICE PROJECT CODES (CATEGORY A)Section I: AFLOAT PROJECT CODES

1. GENERAL. This chart has been developed from the matrix in Group I to provide ships with a list of the project codes normally used afloat when preparing requisitions. These codes are not applicable to requisitions chargeable to NAVSEA OPN Outfitting Account (see par. 3369). Aircraft, squadrons, and ships have been categorized as to type of activity or weapons system and, as a general rule, will assign project codes related to one category. Project codes assigned to the Surface Missile Ship (SMS) Program will be used only to requisition material in support of the SMS System.

500/600 SERIES

The 500 and 600 series (numeric, alpha-alpha and alpha-numeric) project codes are reserved for use by Navy Industrial Activities. This series is used to requisition material for ship availabilities including ship overhauls. 500/600 series are unique in that they tie an industrial requisition to a specific yard, hull, and type of material requirement. The first digit ("5" or "6") indicates the requirement is from an industrial customer. The second digit (alpha/numeric) identifies the hull and the specific time frame of the availability. The third digit (alpha/numeric) specifies the intended use or type of material. The Navy Industrial Activity assigns 500/600 project codes. NAVICP MECH Code 104 monitors and maintains a listing of all assignments. Navy industrial activities should provide updates routinely to NAVICP and NAVSEA. Letter, message, and electronic mail updates should include: hull number, ships name, type of availability, overhaul start and end dates, and the project code assignment.

700 SERIES

NAVSUP has set aside the 700 series for high priority CASREP and Not Mission Capable Supply (NMCS)/ Partial Mission Capable Supply (PMCS) requisitions requiring special expediting and shipment via traceable means vice parcel post. This Change will select deletion of those 700 codes which the original requesting activity has agreed to conversion to a 400 series code or, in some cases, were deleted entirely because they were no longer required.
